

PRIMARY BILL UP TUESDAY

Assembly Will Grapple with the Amendment Put on by the Senate Yesterday.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS

It Is Said That an Amendment to the Amendment Will Be Made.

(Special to The Gazette.) Madison, Wis., March 28.—After a four days' rest the primary election bill will take the center of the stage in the assembly next Tuesday. The first move made will be by the democratic members, who will offer an amendment appending the referendum to apply to the whole bill. This action was decided on at a caucus of the democratic members held Thursday night, but it is not believed all of them will abide by the decision.

Thirty Votes Sure
Thirty votes may be rallied to its support, and when it is defeated the question will come on concurrence in the senate amendment applying the referendum to all offices except county and village offices. This, it is believed, will be defeated by a more decisive majority than the democratic amendment, administration leaders stating that there will not be more than a dozen votes in concurrence.

Back to Senate
The bill will then go back to the senate, which will refuse to recede from its amendment, and will ask for conference. Committees will be appointed from each house and a last effort will be made to reach a compromise.

No Agreement
There is no present indication of any chance for reaching an agreement, and if the conference fails, a last attempt will be made to reconsider the vote adhering to the amendment, and on this vote the administration men claim they will have enough senators to pass the bill as a last resort.

LOODS BURST LEVEES AND OVERFLOW DELTA

Port of Engineers to Stop the Break Prove of No Avail at Greenville, Miss.

Greenville, Miss., March 28.—A volume of water sixteen feet deep and over 600 feet in width is pouring steadily through a crevasse in the levee five miles south of here and is flooding thousands of acres of the best farming land in the celebrated delta.

The levee broke at 11 o'clock Friday morning, and the roar of the rushing waters could be heard in Greenville. Only 200 feet of the embankment gave way at first and an effort was made to stop the hundreds of laborers in charge of the government engineers to check the flood by cribbing and sacking, but was soon apparent that they could not combat the current. An hour later the ends of the levee on either side of the crevasse were melting fast, the force of the current cutting the embankment away as though it was mud.

When the first report of the break reached this city the excitement was intense, and many people began to flock their valuables and held themselves in readiness to move away at moment's notice.
Maj. John M. Sears, in charge of the government office here, said the break unquestionably the worst in the history of the levee system. He says the entire delta south as far as Vicksburg will be inundated and the fine farming lands in Washington, Bolivar and many counties will be under water more than two weeks. This is the first break to be reported on the Mississippi side since the present rise began.

HOLD THE OPERATORS TO COMMISSION'S AWARD

Miners Refuse Offer of Markle and Pardee to Continue Work Under Existing Conditions.

Hazleton, Pa., March 28.—The executive board of district No. 7, United Mineworkers of America, has notified G. B. Markle & Co., and A. Pardee & Co., independent coal operators, that the miners will insist upon the award of the strike commissioners being carried out to the letter. These two firms, according to members of the board, have suggested to the men that work be continued under existing conditions without regard to the arbitration. The proposition was rejected at a meeting of the executive board. It is estimated the various classes of employees will receive the following sums: Miners, $25; laborers, $13; drivers and runners, $10; door boys and helpers, $9; other inside employes, $12; blacksmiths and carpenters, $11; slate pickers, $4; other outside employes, $13; engineers, $22; firemen and pump runners, $14.

LIVERPOOL IS AGAINST COMBINE

Freight Rates Across the Atlantic Are Increased by Agreement with Independent Lines.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.) Liverpool, March 28.—Inquiries made here do not bear out the suggestion that shippers are already beginning to feel the grip of the shipping combine. There has undoubtedly been an increase in freight rates, but this has been brought about by a joint arrangement of the lines controlled by the trust and those outside that organization. This increase is the outcome of experience, which showed the entire inadequacy of the rates recently ruling.

According to the accounts this the students were doing when Mr. Smith hit Wilford Lewis in the mouth cutting him severely.

Smith Seized
Three students immediately seized Smith and were choking him when some one called out it was the mayor whereupon he was released. He immediately called Officer Shiebel to his aid and the affair was quieted down.

The Beloit Free Press will say tonight that in the opinion of citizens the assault of the mayor was unwarranted and it is probable that the matter will be taken up by the faculty and thoroughly aired.

The cashier also will be subpoenaed to appear. After Quinn and the cashier have testified the Pennell inquest will begin. Mickels has been doing business in Benton Harbor since Dec. 1 last, selling by mail, securities, lands, whisky, abstracts and whatever else he could dispose of. The specific charge upon which Mickels was arrested, is based on letters to James Cobb of Ohio, purporting to effect the exchange of certain Chicago property on Morgan street for 600 acres of Tennessee or Kentucky land, over which it is alleged Mickels has no control. The officers say they think Mickels is one of a gang that is engaged in the same business all over the country.

This is regarded as the explanation of the postponement of the czar's visit.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.) Madison, March 28.—Tuesday afternoon the assembly committee on railroads will hold a final hearing on the railway commission bill, at which the railroad men will present their case in its strongest light. That they have been busy outside the legislature is evidenced by the numerous petitions from manufacturers and shippers about the state which have been pouring in on the legislature this week against the passage of the bill.

Report the Bill
The committee expects to report the bill to the assembly before the end of the week, but it is not likely to be reached for action until the week following. The administration men still express confidence that the bill will pass the lower house.

Senate's Work
While the assembly is wrestling with the primary election and freight rates, the senate will have as its chief attraction the bill taking railroads on the ad valorem basis, which the senate committee on assessment and collection of taxes expects to report early in the week.

Amend Assembly Bill
The report, according to good authority, will recommend the amendment of the assembly bill to recommend that the new system of taxation shall not go into effect until next year, the bill as it now stands putting the law in force this year.

The Amendment
The amendment so strongly urged by the railway advocates, of establishing a new board to fix the value of railroad property, instead of creating the tax commission into a board of assessment for that purpose, will not, it is understood, be recommended by the committee.

Canfield is only 19, though securing the license certificate he said he was of age, and the marriage was easily prevented.

EVANGELIST IS SPEAKING DAILY

REV. BIEDERWOLF CONTINUES TO ATTRACT MANY HEARERS.

GREAT WORK IS BEING DONE

The Afternoon and Evening Services Show Speaker's Remarkable Strength and Power.

With each of the Biederwolf-Stout services the atmosphere of devotion and deep spiritual thought is becoming more apparent. Rev. Biederwolf's powerful methods and his uncompromising attitude toward sin have proved effective to a remarkable degree during the past week. All emphasis is laid upon the imperative need of present action as a safeguard against the future in the world to come.

The after meetings are perhaps the best part of the entire day's meetings. At any rate the spirit of consecration and devotion reaches its climax at that time. Each evening larger numbers have been remaining for this part of the services, and last night the number was especially large.

Choir Growing
New recruits are nightly being gained for the ranks of the chorus choir which assists at the evening services. A small orchestra has also been added to strengthen the chorus. Under Prof. Stout's direction the chorus singing is inspiring and delightful. In his solos Prof. Stout is gaining new admirers at each session. He last night decorated the members of the choir with badges of blue ribbon.

A book stand has been erected at the rear of the church, where Mr. Biederwolf's assistant is in charge to sell the standard religious literature of the day.

Big Meeting For Men
Tomorrow afternoon comes the address upon the "White Life." The session is for men only, and it is expected to fill the auditorium of the Congregational church to overflowing. The address has met with notable success in other cities, and the same success is expected here.

There are no services today. Rev. Biederwolf only carries out his labors six days out of the week, choosing Saturday as a day of rest. Tomorrow morning the pastors of the churches will conduct their services as usual. In the afternoon and evening the revivalist will speak.

A brief extract from the address last evening is given below.

Rom. 6:23—"The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Oh how I thank God for eternal life. I thank Him for what it means to me. These are the words of Robertson; he said: "A roll of large type texts hung on the wall opposite the death bed of an aged mother. The dimming eyes could see it and the old lips that had taught her the son of God that he tried to preach it after days kept moving and word by word she read and this is what she read: 'For I know that my Redeemer liveth and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth and after my skin worms have destroyed, yet without, my flesh shall I see God.'"

Oh, to see Him face to face, all transformed and made like unto his glorious image; and then some of the loved ones have gone and I am reminded how a man once said he had no interest in the people across the river from him until one day a young man came over and took his daughter to the other side to be his bride and now said the man my thoughts are continually over there. It may be that God has come to your home and carried away to the other world what was possibly the dearest thing in your life and what ever else in it, it has sent your heart out with an infinite yearning to the other world.

Not long since I was called into such a home and the father said: "I know I have been an indifferent man but if God will forgive me I intend to begin the Christian life." Two months before, Nellie a beautiful daughter of 19, had gone to be with God. They had made it a practice to have her picture taken every year and now they had gotten them all out and upon the piano stood a long array of these likenesses of the absent loved one and around the room stood two or three paintings which had already been enlarged since the child had gone and as we stood in the presence of all these reminders, heaven seemed very near indeed.

"I have known for many years that I ought to be a Christian," he said, "but I have lacked the courage to make the start. I have known something of that girl's prayer and concern for me, but I let her go without seeing me a Christian. Oh," said he, "I always loved her but I never knew how much till now and if there's any way to meet her again I want to walk in it." And then I read to him those beautiful words of the Christ where he said: "Because I live ye shall live."

"Do you think," he said, "a man can become a Christian through the mere wish to see his child?" I told him how God wanted only a man's willingness, how he wanted a man should take the first step and, however, it came about if any man was willing to do the will of God, he should find a straight path shining as he went up to the very portals of heaven and then he said these words I quoted in the beginning.

Men and women, God wants you to set your face in that direction, he wants you to start and if nothing else could move me, if in my heart there lingered the memory of some departed dear one, some gentle mother or patient wife or darling child who went for the home coming of the last loved one I think I'd put away my sin and wave a salute to heaven to let them know I'm coming, too.

Gov. La Follette has issued a proclamation designating Friday, May 1, as Arbor day.

STUDENT CLEAVES NOT MISTREATED

Statement Made by the Proprietors of the Valentine School of Telegraphy.

Editor Gazette: In reply to your article in Thursday evening's Gazette in which it is claimed that Earl Cleaves, a student in our school has been made insane by being hazed by his fellow students and robbed of money, we wish to say that there is not one word of truth in the allegation. The young man was certainly insane when he reached Janesville, as his actions at the Myers house proved. From the time he arrived here he seemed possessed with the idea that some one was going to rob him and he sat up night after night watching his trunk. He did not attend our school at all, but remained at his boarding house all of the time. We wrote to his mother in regard to him and she came and took him back home. We have no hazers in our school, and during 51 years the school has been established we have never had a case of hazing. If the boy lost any money, it must have been while en route to Janesville. VALENTINE BROS.

MRS. LOBBELL.
Circus Stock: The ring stock and property wagons of Ringling Bros. show passed through the city Thursday night on their way to Chicago where the show will open up April 1.

The court was filled last evening with an intelligent audience to listen to the words of Senator Howe and Mr. Nichols. The latter made the first address and for an hour kept his hearers attentive listeners.

His address abounded in good things and just sentiments, and was filled with those sharp thrusts all expected to hear. Senator Howe spoke for about an hour and made an excellent speech. His exhortations to unite in support of the war were earnest and met with a warm response, while the commendation of those who are withholding their support and embarrassing the prosecution of the war were justly severe and well timed. Such meetings are efficient helpers of the cause of loyalty against rebellion in the south and treason in the north.

The rhetorical exercises at the high school yesterday afternoon were of an interesting character. The speaking by the young gentlemen evinced culture and talent, and was a marked improvement over anything of the kind that we have before witnessed at this school.

CAUCUSES HELD LAST EVENING IN ALL THE WARDS.

CONVENTION THIS EVENING

No One Has Yet Been Definitely Chosen for Mayor by the Democratic Leaders.

There was an unusually good turnout at the democratic caucuses last night and harmony prevailed in every ward except the Third, here some of the leaders made a fight to get the delegates to the city convention on account of there being some discussion about who should be the nominee for mayor. When the vote was counted it was found to be a tie and there will be two sets of delegates entitled to one-half a vote each, with the exception of three whose names appeared on both tickets. In the First ward, J. W. Sale, the republican nominee, was endorsed and in the Second ward no one was nominated for the position of alderman which leaves Mr. Farmer without any opponent unless the city committee should fill the vacancy.

The city convention will be held at the city hall this evening at eight o'clock and may develop some surprises. The result of the caucuses was as follows:

First ward—Alderman, J. W. Sale; Ed. O. Smith, school commissioner; Walter Johnson, supervisor. Delegates to the convention: A. W. Baumann, Nicholas Dilzer, John Connolly, Chas. Horn, Henry Blum, W. L. Stoddard, Ed. O. Smith, Walter Johnson, A. F. Krueger, James Sennett, J. P. Baker, E. H. Davies, Thomas Dowling, Wm. Garbutt, James Dee.

Minister.
Letter to Rev. W. W. Warner, Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir: In making pastoral visits, or course, you do not consider your pleasure or comfort or ease; you go where your people live. But you have two sets of feelings in going about—can't help it—we all have. But you especially have; for a part of your business in sympathy. Well-kept lawns and well-tended fields, nice home and nice people, are cheerful to you, as they are to everyone. Tumble-down buildings, poor fences, men harassed by burdens too heavy for them, over-worked women, and dirty faced children, you may be strong to get on with; but you would be more than human to end inspiration in misery.

Paint divides the two sorts of people; one paints, and the other don't. Or, perhaps, the thrifty paint well; the unthrifty paint ill. It costs about half as much to paint Devos as to paint lead and oil; for Devos lasts twice as long and costs no more—indeed costs less, but not much less.

The thrifty and comfortable have the art of using money more wisely. How lucky they are! How happy! J. P. Baker is our agent in Janesville. Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOS & CO.

KILLS GERMS OF CATARRH

Hyomel Goes to the Root of the Disease and Makes Astonishing Cures.

"Catarrh cannot be cured" by the use of pills, liquid medicines and so-called system tonics. Under such treatment the germs of the disease will still live in the air passages and increase and multiply. Hyomel is the only scientific and thorough way to cure catarrh, killing the germs in the air passages, it enters the blood with the oxygen, destroys the microbes in the blood and effectually drives from the system all traces of catarral poison.

Thousands of testimonials have been given as to the astonishing cures made by this remedy. J. S. Nugent, treasurer of the American Union Life Insurance company, of New York City writes: Hyomel has completely cured my daughter of catarrh, from which she suffered for years."

Probably the strongest evidence that can be offered as to the powers of Hyomel to cure catarrh is the fact that The Peoples Drug Co. agree to refund the money to every customer who can say that Hyomel has not cured them.

Now is a good time to cure your catarrh.

GOVERNMENT NOW EXPERIMENTING

Would Establish a Wireless Telegraph Line Between China and California.

Dr. L. De Forest, a young American, is the inventor of a system of wireless telegraphy which has recently been adopted by the United States Navy department in preference to that developed by Marconi. During the navy department tests, which were conducted under the direction of a special board of officers of which Lieutenant Arnold was chairman, Dr. De Forest sent to President Roosevelt the following message or aerogram as it is called:

"I have the honor to send you the first greetings by an American wireless telegraph system from Annapolis naval academy to Washington, with the conviction that within eighteen months we shall do the same from Manila, via Hawaii to California."

This latter clause gave to the world its first knowledge of what is undoubtedly destined to take rank as one of the most important projects of the century. That the plan is not exactly a new one, however, is attested by the fact that long before trans-Atlantic wireless telegraphy was publicly demonstrated, Dr. De Forest had completed plans for an elaborate system of gigantic power stations, to serve as links in a chain spanning the Pacific. Two of the stations—one in the Philippines near Manila, and the other on the northernmost of the Hawaiian group—will far exceed in power those in existence today for trans-Atlantic work. Indeed, the range from Manila to Honolulu is the longest and most difficult in the world.

A smaller station will be erected at Hongkong, China, to work with the one at Manila. At the Chinese terminal the towers will be but 175 feet high, while at the Manila and Honolulu stations the steel masts will rise to a height of 250 feet. The American terminal will be located at the southern end of the peninsula of lower California and will be fitted with towers 210 feet high. The four stations will cost, all told, $182,000. Of this sum, $25,000 has been allowed for the terminal at Hongkong; $56,000 each form the installations at Manila and Hawaii, and $45,000 for the California plant. It is hoped that it will be possible, in the transmission of messages, to maintain a regular speed of twenty-eight words per minute between the Chinese and American terminals.

Dr. De Forest, the inventor of this marvelous wireless system is only twenty-nine years of age. After leaving his boyhood home in Iowa, he worked his way through Yale, where he studied electrical oscillation for six years and won the degree of doctor of philosophy. He next took up practical electrical work in Chicago, and while he was thus engaged, in 1901 he conducted his first out-door experiment. He first attracted the attention of the officials of the national government during the naval maneuvers on the New England coast in the summer of 1902. He seized the opportunity to establish several wireless stations on the coast, and so successful were they in their operation that they were forthwith purchased by the United States Signal Corps.—From Affairs at Washington, in April National.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP

The coming of Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott to this country next season under the direction of Klaw and Erlanger, presenting a dramatic version of Kipling's "Light that Failed" will be one of the most important stage events of the year. They recently made a hit in this drama in London, where they are now playing it with great success. Mr. Robertson is one of the most talented players in England and has long held a very conspicuous place in the London stage. Miss Elliott is an American—a sister of Maxine Elliott. She went to England in the support of N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott three years ago, and, remaining there, has since attained to the unusual prominence. Mr. Robertson and Miss Elliott will be supported by their own company and will bring to this country their own entire scenic equipment. They will open their tour at the Knickerbocker Theatre in November.

Klaw and Erlanger have secured from George V. Hobart, the humorist, the stage rights to his series of comic books, called "John Henry." In collaboration with Edward B. Rose, Mr. Hobart will make a dramatic version of these stories as the vehicle for Dan Daly's appearance as a star, under the direction of Klaw and Erlanger, at Daly's Theatre, the latter part of May. Mr. Hobart's stories, which are printed in four volumes, have had a circulation of over 300,000 copies. Several light comedians endeavored to secure the dramatic rights to these stories but Mr. Hobart decided that Mr. Daly would make the ideal John Henry. Klaw and Erlanger will give the new piece a very elaborate production and will surround Mr. Daly with an important cast.

Joseph Brooks, Herbert Gresham and John J. McNally, representatives of Klaw and Erlanger, who recently went to London to witness performances of "Mother Goose," the spectacle now running at the Drury Lane theatre, which this firm will import next season, have returned to New York after spending a month abroad. While in London, Mr. McNally secured material for the new farce which will be written for the Rogers Brothers next season—"The Rogers Brothers

...COMING ATTRACTIONS...

"At Cripple Creek," Hal Reid's picturesque and colorful drama of western life, which made such a pronounced hit last season (the initial year of its appearance) is the enticing announcement for the Myers Grand opera house, this afternoon and evening.

This production was hailed by the critics and a large clientele of admirers as a welcome departure from average modern melodrama, with its flimsy plot, wishy-washy dialogue, and machine-made effects. It carried lovers of melodrama back to the good old days of "Partners," "M'Liss," "The Danites," etc., when dramas of the class had some solidity of construction and were actable as well as pictorial exhibitions of the art of the scene painter and the illusionist behind the scenes.

This is not to infer that "At Cripple Creek" is not supplied with plenty of good mechanical effects. On the contrary, some of the most ingenious and surprising climaxes are produced through the aid of the clever behind the scene devices and appropriate scenery; yet the investment of the drama is subservient to the acting, with happy result.

The patron of the melodrama expects to have his emotions stirred, and he is not disappointed in "At Cripple Creek." While the story and scenes depict a phase of life common in the famous mining camp a few years ago "At Cripple Creek" is in no sense a dime novel, blood-and-thunder melodrama. Its story is clean cut and rational, and the author has placed upon the stage some of the typical characters to be found in the West in a wonderfully lifelike manner.

The high chief of villainy in the drama has an equally reasonable opponent in the big-hearted Joe Mayfield. Among the types presented are a treacherous Mexican and a good Indian, and these are valuable aids in the development of the contest between goodness and villainy. Some of the most novel and effective scenes ever exploited are introduced in "At Cripple Creek" and the work of the company is of a high standard of excellence.

Quick Stage Studies
On two occasions S. Miller Kent, who comes here in Clyde Fitch's "The Cowboy and the Lady," displayed his rather remarkable ability as a "quick study" when playing "Arms" in Webster & Co's. production of "The Musketeers" at the Broadway Theatre. James O'Neill was taken ill on the second night of the run. Mr. Kent had never studied Mr. O'Neill's lines; yet he was able with an afternoon's rehearsal, to go through the entire evening without a hitch—a rather extraordinary feat, by the way.

Three years ago Mr. Kent was sojourning in London. Nat C. Goodwin was presenting "An American Citizen" at the Duke of York's Theatre. One day Mr. Goodwin was taken seriously ill when at his country place, Jackwood, and Mr. Kent was appealed to by Mrs. Goodwin (Maxine Elliott) to learn the lines and the "business" of Mr. Goodwin's role. He had but one day to do this; but he attempted it and made a cracking big hit in the part that night, every paper in London called attention to Mr. Kent's remarkable performance.

Another performer who has a record only equaled by Mr. Kent is Miss Viola Allen, who learned the title role of "Esmeralda" in two days.

Resurrection
Probably no work of late years has so thoroughly engrossed the mind of the reading public or created more interest than Tolstoy's "Resurrection," an epic in prose of human emotions.

A powerful, unfathomable stroke of Tolstoy's artistic genius is Nekhlov, the central figure of the work. His character is molded with the utmost care, every motion of his is recorded every thought and intention laid bare and defined. Nekhlov is not always a hero—he is a man—hence heir to weakness and temptation. He is characteristic of a class of men whose field of action is America as well as Russia, Germany as well as England. Nekhlov is a dreamer. He is governed by outward appearances, influenced by theories, deceived by visions and illusions. His nature is so impressionable, his power of will so weak at times that under the influence of depraved surroundings he becomes a beast, an egotist who loves his own pleasures. Passion runs wild in him—he is trampled under the hoofs of the unbridled horse. The beast, the flesh, triumphs over the spirit. In the maddening bustle of depraved city life, in wine women and corruption, he forgets the victim of his crime. And were it not for the almost improbable coincidence—and herein lie the strength and beauty of the story—Nekhlov's soul, his conscience, would never awaken. Nekhlov would continue to commit those same crimes even as hundreds and thousands of Nekhlovs do in every land today.

But Nekhlov becomes a new man, his eyes are opened, he sees the crying iniquities about him, his heart bleeds and he lends assistance wherever he can. The courts of justice, the high functionaries and the low nobles and the peasants, the church and the prisons, now appear to him in their true light and the panorama of Russia is complete and clear to him.

Sincerity is another striking feature of this work—the next essential of art. "Resurrection" is true to life; in it Tolstoy does not create life where it is not; he does not bring forth feelings, emotions where they do not spring up themselves. It is life, it is truth; truth is beautiful because it is true, and the beautiful interpretation of life is the highest form of art. The form, the body of the work is in perfect harmony with the tendency—its soul. "Resurrection" has proven itself the dramatic rage and sensation of the day, and its original production at Myers Grand on April 4, should be one of the most notable amusement events of our dramatic season.

A Layman's Lenten Sermon.

Twenty-eighth day of lent, St. Mark, XII 28v.—And he said unto them in his doctrine. Beware of the scribes who love to go in long clothing and love salutations in the market place.

Thus did Christ teach his followers to watch for those who would make a show of themselves by loving fine clothing and dressing without becoming taste to exhibit their riches before their neighbors. Thus did Christ tell his followers to beware of the men who loved to make a great showing of themselves in the market places that they might attract attention to themselves.

Christ's teachings can be applied to this day and age. We are every day finding men and women who think more of show than they do of the everyday goodness of life and of their ever becoming a benefit to their neighbors. We can find daily these persons who meet in public places to exchange salutations that they may appear great and be noticed among their fellow men.

Pride and arrogance are two things that Christ preached against. He saw that to make this clear to his listeners he must put it in such language that they could understand, hence his remark to the scribes. The scribe was more the man of leisure of his day. He was more the club man of today and his comings and goings were marked by many, hence his desire for show, for long gowns and elaborate toilets.

This Lenten period, this time of repentance and of wearing sack clothes and ashes can we not stop and think of this teaching. Can we not look into our lives and read there what Christ would have us read. Beware of the scribes who love to wear long clothing and love salutations in the market place.

give them positions as soon as competent.

For a Disease Germ That Liquezone Can't Kill.

This offer is open to any physician or any scientist anywhere. We make it to convince all—beyond any question—that Liquezone does kill germs—and all germs.

It Kills Them With Oxygen

Liquezone carries oxygen, in staple form, into the blood; and the blood conveys it to every membrane and tissue. There is not a known germ that can live in it.

Liquezone is the only germ-killer that one dare take internally. It forms the only way to kill germs in the body without destroying the tissues, too. It directly destroys the cause of all germ troubles, and there is no other way to do it.

The reason is this:—all germs are vegetables, and oxygen, the very life of an animal, is death to vegetable matter.

No Drugs in Liquezone.

We pledge you that there is not a drug of any kind in this product.

It is not only harmless, even to a babe, but it is a tonic. Oxygen is life. Pauli, the great German chemist, spent 20 years in learning how to liquify oxygen, and Liquezone is the result. It takes 14 days to make each bottle of it.

The result is a liquid that can reach every germ in the body, and cure at once and forever every germ disease.

Diseases Due to Germs.

These are some of the known germ diseases; and these diseases are never cured by drugs. Either Nature or Liquezone must overcome the germs.

FOR VALUE RECEIVED

For value received, I promise to pay. The boy looked at the note the second time, and read it over again. He was taking his first lesson in the office, attempting to become familiar with the various books and blanks connected with the business.

Turning to the old bookkeeper, he said, "Mr. Gray, what kind of a blank is this and what does it represent?" The old gentleman said, "That, my boy, is a promissory note. It represents nothing at all, but if a customer bought $500 worth of goods on ninety days time and should sign his name at the bottom after the note was filled out, it would represent an evidence of indebtedness, and a promise in writing to pay on a certain day. The value received means that he has had the goods."

But the boy was still curious and so he said, "Why is the note better than the man's word?" And then the old accountant explained, that it saved the firm the trouble of proving the account in case of dispute or death. It was in fact a final settlement. The party received the goods, acknowledged their value and promised to pay at a specified time.

There are plenty of people in the world who are in debt. They acknowledge the obligation and promise to pay, but the day of final reckoning is always deferred.

These obligations are not all financial. Many of them have to do with the physical, the mental and the moral kingdom. Financial obligations are met the most promptly of any, because the business world demands promptness and honesty, and the man who fails to comply, soon finds himself blacklisted, and deprived of credit.

It is always a satisfaction to men in business to know that they are able to pay, and to meet all obligations as they mature. It is a comfortable assurance to feel that their word is regarded as good as their note. To know that they have resources to draw on to meet all legitimate demands. To be financially well equipped, is one of the important requisites to successful business.

But business life is confined to classes. There is a broader field when the great mass of humanity strives for the prizes, and where failure is all too common.

Many people have the notion these days, that the prizes of life are not evenly distributed, and so, a spirit of envy takes possession of the heart and unrest and discontent develops.

People like to be told that the rich are growing richer, and the poor poorer, and this pernicious doctrine has taken such firm root in many minds that no effort is made to better conditions.

It is well to remember that life is very largely what we make it and that there are many goals worth striving for. Houses, lands and bank accounts are comfortable possessions, but there are others more valuable, that are within the grasp of every honest teller.

That man in middle life, passing down the street is said to be worth half a million. He is bent with care and anxiety, and with shattered health and mind filled with purest he will drop out of possession twenty years before his allotted time. He would give all that he possesses for an elixir of life that would restore physical strength and renew his lease of life. He recalls the vigor of young manhood, and the powers of endurance possessed. Nature endowed him with strength in liberal measure and for years he had drawn on his resources far beyond the limit.

The days were too short to accomplish his plans, and the nights too long to be wasted in rest. Every nerve was at its highest tension and when the break came, and he was obliged to let go, he remembered how completely he was undone and how the wreckage had been final.

For value received I promise to pay, touches every realm and every Kingdom. The principle is recognized in nature, from the violet that lifts a smiling face to greet the morning sun, to the oak that bows before the blast and sends its tendrils down into the crevices beneath the surface. Nature acknowledges the obligations of nature, and pays the debt with liberal measure.

In this age of golden opportunity there is no limit to be placed upon values received. The young man who will, may so thoroughly enrich his mind that it will become an inexhaustible storehouse for years to come, and yet there are many poverty stricken minds, so destitute of knowledge that they are unable to meet ordinary obligations.

Too many people are satisfied with an ordinary equipment of knowledge. They are content to let other people think and act for them. They seem impressed with the notion that the opportunities to acquire knowledge end with the school room, and if they are not fortunate enough to hold a diploma that they are handicapped in the race.

This is a foolish notion and as false as it is foolish. The great school of life is the world about us, and the man who gets the most out of it is the man who profits the most by every day observation and experience.

The man who pays the debt of life may or may not be a graduate from any school. It all depends upon his appreciation or lack of it.

The labor world, or rather the organized portion of it, is just now disturbed over conditions, and the contest for what is termed the rights of labor are vigorously advocated. While it is commendable for every man to strive to better his condition it is very questionable whether the methods employed by organized labor are the best methods.

The promise to pay, on the part of capital, is seldom violated, but the value received is not always regarded with the same degree of sacredness.

It means much more than a given amount of work for a given amount of money. The man who intelligently toils for another, invests more than the labor of his hands.

If he appreciates in any degree his own interests, brain and heart are called into account and the investment becomes three-fold in nature and valuable in proportion.

When this fact is more fully realized there will be no labor disturbances, and contentment will take the place of unrest. For value received I promise to pay, means much in the world of industry.

There is another debt of obligation that is all too lightly regarded. The human soul is endowed with many qualities which are capable or rare development. It represents the best there is in life, and it is the only realm where humanity meets on a common level. There are no class distinctions and no environments that prevent the rarest development.

It is possible to have a pure, white soul and a conscience void of offense under any and all circumstances, and the human will is the only dictator. It controls the mind and governs action.

Janesville is just now favored with an opportunity to cultivate soul development. The meetings in progress are for this special purpose. There is nothing compulsory about it, but it presents a privilege that no individual can afford to neglect.

The fountain of life is life itself. When this fountain is pure, the life will be clean and wholesome and every impulse that prompts to action will be a right impulse. The obligations of life will be discharged more completely when the heart of humanity beats in closer touch with the great heart of the Master.

The Gazette was right when it said the state would pass a primary bill. Well it did and it is now up to the Assembly to carry out the party platform pledges. If they turn it down, why the Governor must look to them, not the conservative senate.

Old Barnum said you can fool some of the people some of the time but you can't fool all of the people all of the time. Barnum was right, and hence the result of the republican convention.

If the democrats will put all party differences aside and endorse the citizens ticket what a glorious city government we would have.

It was a handsome endorsement the republican party gave to the honest and upright men of the Citizens ticket.

That anti-cigarette bill if passed, will hit many a Janesville youth hard if it passes the senate and becomes law.

More business, less politics seems to be a good war cry for the coming election.

It would appear that our conservative senate was really worthy of its name.

England has its army scandals the same as America, only they did not refer to canned beef.

The caucuses and convention were victories for right and right.

Even poor old Austria has its taste of the poisoning fanatic.

Now up bobs Spain with another cabinet crisis.

PRESS COMMENT

Stevens Point Journal: "How to invest your surplus money" is the title of an article in an exchange. The article will be of deep interest to newspaper men of the state—particularly to those who are publishing daily editions in the smaller cities.

Oshkosh Times: Why would not be a good thing for W. J. Bryan to follow the example of Mr. Cleveland, who has decided to take no part in politics, except in an advisory capacity and then only when invited.

Fond du Lac Reporter: To be consistent, the farmer members of the legislature, who demanded an eight-hour day while working out their road tax, should grant the same thing to the hired man.

Commoner: Twenty negroes, the entire colored population of Webrum were driven out of town the other day and their little shacks pulled down and destroyed. Mississippi? No, Pennsylvania.

EASTERN STAR STUDY CLASS

DELIGHTFUL AFTERNOON AT RESIDENCE OF MRS. ASHCRAFT.

HONORED MRS. HARRINGTON

The Gymnasium Was Turned Into a Charming Dining Room, for the Occasion.

On Thursday afternoon the Eastern Star study class met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Ashcraft for their regular meeting. The topic for the afternoon was to have been Travel, but both this and the regular business of the meeting was put aside in order that the afternoon might be given over to the reception in honor of Mrs. Mary Harrington, a member of the class who is about to leave the city making her home elsewhere.

Presented a Clock

After the guests had assembled, Mrs. E. O. Kimberly, president of the class made a charming presentation of a pretty clock to Mrs. Harrington as a token of remembrance in behalf of the class and Mrs. Harrington thanked the donors in well chosen words. After this little ceremony was over, the rest of the afternoon was passed in pleasant sociability, recitations, story telling, and music, filling in the time.

Husbands Arrive

Shortly before six, the husbands of the ladies present arrived and with the twenty-eight members of the class present, partook of a delicious supper which had been prepared by the committee for the afternoon. This committee consisted of Miss Fannie Rummel, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Ashcraft.

Dainty Scene

Led by Mrs. Kimberly, on the arm of Mr. W. F. Carle and followed by Mrs. Harrington on the arm of Mr. Kimberly, the party marched to the gymnasium. In the rear of the residence, which had been transformed into an ideal dining room. Two large tables were here spread, being most tastefully decorated with ferns and deep red carnations. Red carnations were also the luncheon favors, one being at each place.

The Toasts

Woman was the subject of the toasts given by each member of the class who read quotations from a dainty card they found at their places, on sitting down. After some time spent in this pleasant manner the party repaired to the house. Here delightful music was furnished by Mr. Ashcraft with his large tables were here spread, being enjoyment in cards and conversation.

WOULD MUZZLE ALL THE CANINES

State Veterinarian Roberts Suggests Plan That the City Ordinance Be Enforced.

It has been suggested by the state veterinarian that it would be a good plan for the city authorities to enforce the ordinance in regard to dogs wearing muzzles, when running at large. As no one can tell how many dogs were bitten by Mr. Echlin's dog, the precaution of keeping all dogs muzzled for the next two months would have great deal to do with checking any spread of the disease and save some one from being badly bitten.

The only way the disease can be discovered is by direct inoculation and a particle of the brain of Mr. Echlin's dog was inoculated into the brain of a rabbit. The rabbit soon showed unmistakable signs of the disease and as a further test a particle of the rabbit's brain will be inoculated into another rabbit. A little precaution on the part of owners of dogs may save lots of trouble.

CURRENT NEWS NOTES

Council Meeting: A regular meeting of the city council will be held on Monday evening next and considerable unfinished business will be taken up and disposed of.

More Workmen: More hands are being added to the Cement Post Co's. force every day and a good many posts are now being manufactured.

Start Beloit Hotel: It is expected that the new hotel at Beloit will be started in a short time, as all they are now waiting for are the plans and specifications.

Heating Contract Let: The contract for the new heating plant at the new post office has been let to E. J. McDonough & Co., of Milwaukee, the contract price being $2,955.

Making Measurements: The civil engineering force of the Madison division of the North-Western is engaged in measuring the distances from the stations to the post offices in towns on that division. The work is being carried on by order of the government.

Force on the Increase: The Hough shade corporation now has about 100 hands at work, and more will be employed as soon as additional looms can be put in operation.

Visited in Janesville: George P. Peck, manager of the Rockford opera house; Geo. C. Sackett, city editor of the Rockford Register-Gazette; Chas. Baldwin, treasurer of the opera house; and Thomas Ewing of Waterloo, were in the city yesterday afternoon and called on numerous friends. They were much pleased with Janesville as a business city.

May Miss Election: John Mulcairn and Willie O'Donnell are not likely to cast a vote for any of the numerous candidates at the coming election on account of their being gathered in by Chief Hogan for drunkenness. They appeared before Judge Fifield this morning and both pleaded guilty for being drunk and disorderly. Mulcairn was given two days and $2 and costs or six additional days. O'Donnell was given five days and $5 and costs or ten additional days. As they had no money they are liable to stay in jail until after election.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

On and after April first, 1903, no contract will be made for business localities. The rate for this class of advertising will be ten cents per line for each and every line of either Daily or Weekly. The Gazette adopts this policy for two reasons: First, To improve the news columns of the paper. The first consideration of any newspaper is the reader; and its value to the advertiser depends entirely upon its popularity with the reading public. Business localities frequently flood the composing room the last hour before the paper goes to press, and news is sacrificed to meet the demands of this class of business. Second, The Daily Gazette is rapidly extending its circulation throughout the county, giving the Janesville merchant an opportunity to talk to the farmer as well as the city customer, six days in the week. This means faster circulation, and increased expense in producing a paper as well as increased value for advertising purposes. The Gazette has also adopted what is known as the space rate for display advertising, and prices have been placed within the reach of all advertisers. The paper has long enjoyed a liberal patronage from home merchants, and it is in position today to furnish better service than at any time in its history.

TALKED TO Y. M. C. A. GYMNASIUM CLASSES

Prof. Stout Gave a Charming Talk to Junior Boys at Their Saturday Service.

Prof. B. P. Stout this morning captured the heart of every member of the Junior Y. M. C. A. gymnasium classes. He addressed them at their usual Saturday morning meeting, speaking to them in simple and interesting language of the sins which they are most prone to commit, and singing several songs. His manner was so genial and whole souled that when the latter went down to the bowling alley for a few games of fingerball, the boys, who were then in their gymnasium drill, forgot discipline and let out a lusty "Hurrah for Prof. Stout."

WINNERS DESERVED PLACES

Harry Doran, Stowe Lovejoy, Clara Erixon and Harriet Decker, The Victors.

In the award of honors to the contestants in the ninth annual rhetorical contest of the high school, the judges and the audience were fully in accord. Each decision met with popular favor. In quality the declamations, extemporaneous speeches, orations, and the original poem, were fully up to the standard of past years.

A large audience, composed largely of the students and parents and friends of the contestants, filled the high school auditorium. The program was enlivened by music by the high school orchestra and by the male quartette. Both organizations were received with a great show of enthusiasm, the latter especially because it was the maiden appearance of the young men in public. Repeated encores were demanded of the quartette, who covered themselves with glory. The members of the quartette are Messrs. Kramer Doty, Harold Dearborn, Lawrence Doty, and John Harlow.

The Lovejoy Medal

In the contest in orations for the Lovejoy medal the speakers were Thomas McClernan, Ethel Bates, Stow Lovejoy, and Harry Doran. With his oration on "The Great Pacificator," Harry Doran won first place and the medal. Ethel Bates was awarded second honors. Her subject was "Labor Unions."

Subjects for the contest in extemporaneous speaking for the Recorder medal were given out twenty minutes before the speakers took the platform. Each drew two slips, bearing subjects, and was allowed to select either of the two. Stow Lovejoy was victorious, taking subject, "Germany and the Monroe Doctrine." Harry Doran was second. The other speakers were Julia Lovejoy and Mamie Gosselin.

Contest in Poetry

Clara Erixon was winner in the contest in poetry. The compositions were submitted several weeks ago, and the victor was announced last evening and called upon to read her production. Ada Buckmaster was awarded second.

Harriet Decker and Ada Longley will represent the high school in the league contest at Evansville. Miss Decker won the Loomis medal for declamations and first place. Her selection was "The Heart of the Mountains." Ada Longley was given second place for her rendition of "The One Legged Goose." Julia Lovejoy and Harriet Decker also competed.

High Grade of Contest

In speaking of the showing made by the contestants Prof. Buell said that the winners never had been called on to make a harder struggle for their places than this year. In addition to those who spoke last evening, there was a large number who showed nearly as high a degree of proficiency in the preliminaries. The competition had never been closer or more general. "Why we could have duplicated last night's program with nearly as good results—not quite," he said. "There was a stronger competition. We have always had a few stars in past years who could compare with the best last evening, but we never had as many who only missed making places in the finals by a narrow margin."

Would You Banish Dangerous Spring Headache!

Try Nature's Cure, Paine's Celery Compound

And You Will Quickly Rejoice in a New Life.

While headaches are varied in character and are produced by a variety of causes, the majority of victims suffer either from nervousness or bilious headache. When neglected, either form will quickly cause serious suffering and will assuredly prostrate the system. Nervous headaches, to which women are special subject, arise from weak and inflamed nerves, heavy and dull brain, poor circulation and debility. Bilious headaches are usually accompanied by sickness and vomiting. They result from inactive liver, digestive disturbances or sore and constipated bowels.

MRS. BENJ. PERRY

In the springtime, able and experienced physicians urge upon those who are subject to headaches the use of Paine's Celery Compound. In tens of thousands of cases this wonderful remedy has produced happy and permanent results after all other modes of treatment failed. Unlike other medicines claiming popular attention, Paine's Celery Compound gives prompt and effective results. It gives to weak and sick people an immediate supply of nerve force with pure blood, active liver and perfect digestive vigor. The work of Paine's Celery Compound is not a simple relieving of pain; it effectually reaches the root and causes of disease and permanently banishes the trouble. Mrs. Darley, Franklin, Ill., says:—

"After trying in vain several remedies for headache, I began using Paine's Celery Compound. This great medicine not only cured me, but it built up my system and made me feel like a new woman. It is the only medicine we keep in the house."

Mrs. Benj. Perry of North Aurelius, Mich., says:—"Paine's Celery Compound is the best medicine on earth. Three years ago I was taken with inflammation of the bladder, and nervous prostration, and was very sick, under the doctors' care, and they all thought I could not live."

"I was so sick I could not help myself, and hardly sat up long enough to have my bed made; but I heard of Paine's Celery Compound and commenced taking it, and I can say today that it has helped me so much that I am doing my own work, something I never expected to do. I do not think I would be alive today if it had not been for the use of Paine's Celery Compound."

MACABEBES SLAY FIFTY LADRONES

SCOUTS CRUSH PLUCKY ENEMY

Rebels' Position in a Stone Fort Is Assailed by the American Forces, Four Dead and Eleven Wounded Marking the Way.

Manila, March 28.—Two companies of Macabebe scouts defeated 170 ladrones at a point about seventy miles from Manila. A sergeant and three privates were killed and eleven men wounded. Among the latter was Lieut. Reese. The scouts killed fifty of the bandits, including a gayly uniformed officer believed to be Gen. San Miguel, the leader of the ladrones.

The fight, which lasted two hours, took place on a rock protected hill surmounted by a stone fort. The result was in doubt until the scouts rushed the ladrones' stronghold and drove them out into a clearing, where the slaughter took place. The result is regarded as most important. The scouts had an unusual opportunity for a fight to a finish in which they crushed a plucky enemy who was unable to escape.

To Crush Ladrones.

Lieut. Col. Meyer of the Eleventh Infantry is in command of a strong force at Surigao, Mindanao, and is pursuing a definite and thoroughly equipped campaign for the purpose of crushing Concepcion and his band of ladrones, who recently held the town for a short time and killed Constabulary Inspector Clarke. Lieut. Col. Meyer will also endeavor to recover the eighty rifles taken by Concepcion during his raid on the barracks of the town.

The quick request of Gov. Taft for troops to aid the constabulary and Gen. Davis' prompt action in ordering several companies of infantry to the scene has resulted in real co-operation between the two bodies in the suppression of the disorders. The prompt action of the governor and the military commander is applauded by the people.

No Cholera in Philippines.

San Francisco, Cal., March 28.—H. C. Ide, a member of the Philippine commission, who has arrived here from Manila on leave of absence en route to his former home in Vermont, said that when he left the island peace blessed them, and he was happy to say that the health boards under the immediate direction of the Philippine commission had stamped out the Asiatic cholera, which caused the death of 100,000 natives. Commissioner Ide said further:

Conditions Improve.

"Conditions in the Philippines are constantly improving. One meets with discouraging features, but after six months you will see marvelous improvement in the development of education, the acquisition of the English language, the construction of roads, the creation of public improvement, and police and civil courts. When one looks at the progress that has been made it will be wondered that so much has been accomplished."

"The great mass of the people in the Philippines want peace and are anxious to co-operate with the American government. They know and see the path of progress is by co-operation with the American authorities."

"AFTER THE BALL"

(Original.)

Last night was the end of the house party. There was a dance, and champagne flowed like water.

What did we do after supper? I have a confused remembrance of something going on in the bachelor quarters. Was it boxing or fencing?

Where is my handkerchief? I reach for my dinner jacket on a chair beside my bed and take my handkerchief from the pocket. With it comes a slip of paper. On it is a hasty scrawl in pencil in a feminine hand:

Consider our acquaintance ended. M. Heavens! I have disgraced myself, and Mollie has discarded me. How, when, did it happen? After supper, when we were rumpling in the drawing room? I don't remember Mollie being there. I must get up at once, go to her and beg forgiveness. Where is my watch? Only 6 o'clock! Not a person will be down before 9. Meanwhile I must toss about in bed, banging the pillow with my head, which aches more and more every minute. Oh, that man should put an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains! I have not tasted alcoholic drink for six months before last night, and I solemnly resolve never to taste it again.

What could I have said or done to offend her? Doubtless talked thick and showed in other ways that I had been drinking. No wonder she wrote that slip. She, in all her purity, to mate with one who could so forget himself! But when did I receive it? Who brought it to me? How can I expect to remember that since I cannot remember other matters? It is all over between us. Mollie will never overlook my conduct. I'm ruined.

I turned over, buried my face under the bedclothes and groaned.

I looked at my watch every ten minutes. The intervals seemed half an hour. When it was 8 o'clock, I got up, dressed and went downstairs. The house was as still as death. At 9 o'clock I heard a servant in the dining room, and, going in there, I asked for a cup of coffee. This made me feel somewhat more comfortable. Returning to my room, I lay down and dozed till 10 o'clock, then went downstairs again. Most of the guests were at breakfast. I joined them, drank another cup of coffee and swallowed a piece of toast with difficulty. Then I went into the smoking room. Mollie had not yet come down, and I wanted to get out of the way, avoiding a meeting with her in the presence of others. I lighted a cigar, but it tasted bad, and I threw it away. Bob Anderson came in and sat down opposite me. He lit a cigar and sat smoking ruefully. I saw that something was on his mind, and as Bob is a communicative fellow I felt sure it would come out. Presently he came and sat down by me.

"I made an awful ass of myself last night," he said.

"Indeed you did," I replied. I remembered nothing about him the night before, but it soothed me to think that he might have disgraced himself worse than I had done.

"That was an awful break I made at the supper table."

"Yes, it was," I replied.

"The confounded bottle slipped out of my hand. Is there no way to get a wine stain out of silk?"

"None. But you can buy a new dress, I suppose."

"Buy Marion Hunt a new dress? That's what made all the trouble. I offered to do so, and she resented the offer, taking it as an insult. Her father is rich, and she has a fine income in her own right."

"Well, Bob, don't worry. I'm in a worse fix than you. I offended my fiancée, and it is all over between us."

"How did you do that? You certainly were not boozy. You drank nothing but a few glasses of champagne."

"Don't know what I did," I handed him the slip.

"How the deuce did you get hold of that?"

"Found it this morning in the pocket of my dinner jacket."

"Why, it's the identical paper Marion Hunt sent me."

"What?"

"When I covered her dress with a whole bottle of wine, she went upstairs very angry. I scribbled a few words to her begging permission to present her with another dress. She tore off a piece of my note and wrote that on it. But, really, how did you get it?"

"It seemed as if a thousand pounds were taken off my shoulders."

"What did we do after supper?" I asked.

"Why, you and I played with the fells."

"And took off our coats?"

"Certainly."

"And hung them up?"

"No; threw them on chairs."

"We're about of a size."

"Very close indeed."

"After our tussle I must have put on your coat."

"So that's the explanation."

"Without a word I left the room and found Mollie in the hall just going in to breakfast. She held out her hand with that smile of hers which always breaks me down."

"Oh, Tom, what a pity we have to part this morning!"

"Dreadful! Did you notice anything unusual about me last night?"

"No. I went upstairs early with a headache. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothing! I had a headache myself this morning, but it's all gone now."

"Meet me in the library in half an hour."

"Sweetheart, I will."

—FRANCIS GOULD MARKLEY.

DARK AND BRIGHT PICTURES

"Maps the Hen and" Writes of the Ups and Downs of Poultry Raising.

"You must take the bitter with the sweet" is an adage which holds true no less in the chicken business than in other walks of life. It seems as though a goodly portion of the "bitter" has got into our cup recently in connection with the brooder chicks. I wonder whether others have had a similar experience. If so, there will be a kindred feeling. All at once we began to find a good many dead chicks under the brooders in the morning, often two or three in each brooder. In looking about for a cause I started out with my thermometer one evening and found that under some of the brooders it would run to 110 degrees a couple of inches above the floors. Here was a cause with a vengeance. I recalled at once an experience I had along this line a couple of years ago.

One hot day in summer our hens were left shut up in the houses all day. My intention had been in the morning to leave them shut up till noon and then let them out. I went off to town, however, and forgot to leave any word to that effect. I was unexpectedly detained in town until nearly night. When I started out to gather the eggs at night, I saw at once that there was trouble on hand. It had been an unusually hot day, with the thermometer close to 100 degrees in the shade, and those henhouses were like ovens. Many of the hens were dead, and others were dying from the effects of the heat. I dropped my egg baskets and started on a run to get them out into the fresh air. Some of the flocks were affected more than others. Those that had bushes growing about the houses, interfering with the movement of what little wind there was stirring, seemed to be the worst. Some were dead, and others had lost the use of their legs. I carried all such out and placed them in the coolest spots I could find, but to no avail. They were mostly dead next morning. When I first discovered them, their eyes were still bright, but they seemed to be paralyzed and could neither stand nor walk. Those houses all had an open window on the south side and an open door on the north side with wire screens, and it is not likely that the heat from the sun made them any warmer than 110 degrees. Still it was hot enough to kill the hens. I know of a man who put a steam radiator in his henery in winter and killed all his hens with kindness. The first morning after turning on the steam he found his whole flock of sixty hens dead. He had overcome them with heat. If mature hens can thus easily be killed with too much heat, is it any wonder that our brooder chicks are sometimes killed in the same way? Speed the day of the practical self-regulating brooder. In my own case, however, the lamps were already turned as low as was consistent with perfect combustion, so I removed some of the cover cloths, thus allowing surplus heat to escape.

"I thought you said chicks knew enough to move out when it got too hot for them if they are given the chance." So I did. If there had only been a few chicks in each brooder, there would have been no trouble, I think. With ninety to a hundred, however, in each brooder it is likely that those on the edges were comfortable, while a few in the middle, where the heat was greatest, could not get out and consequently perished. Right on top of this came a cold wave and frost, with more of the "bitter" in the other direction.—O. W. Mapes in Rural New Yorker.

New Discovery of Science.

Hitherto Tyndall's theory that the azure tint of the sky is due to minute corpuscles in the air has been accepted. Prof. Springer of Liege has proved that the blue of the sky is purely electrical in origin, and an essential quality of the air.

Gen. Butler at New Orleans. Representative Meyer of New Orleans was in a group of former confederate soldiers, who were telling war stories in the Democratic cloakroom. Somebody mentioned Gen. "Ben" Butler and the historical spoons. "Spoons!" snorted Meyer. "Did I ever tell you what those soldiers of Butler's did to my folks? I was fighting when they entered New Orleans. A squad of them came into my house, where my mother was cooking dinner. What do you suppose they did?" "Stole the dinner," said Representative Spight of Mississippi. "Stole the dinner, my eye!" said Meyer. "They threw the dinner on the floor and stole the stove."—New York World.

Skulls of Famous Men. Singular are the requests sometimes made to genius. Prof. Wilder of Cornell University recently asked Gabrielle d'Annunzio if he would be willing to bequeath his skull after death to a collection of the crania of celebrated men. It is proposed to form in connection with the phrenological museum of the university. The Journal states that "D'Annunzio has now formally made this strange bequest, as have also Ibsen and Verestchagin."

Boycotted the Magistrate.

Two milk women were fined at Antoin, in France, for watering their milk. A local trust was then formed.

and prices were raised 50 per cent. A milk strike has resulted. The magistrates who imposed the fines have been boycotted; they can only get milk by having it brought for them surreptitiously.

Sets Wide Apart. It is stated that in the historic village of Hermannsburg, in Germany, there are four kinds of independent Lutheran churches, each of which refuses to recognize the other or to practice altar and pulpit fellowship.

La Crosse business men will make special preparation for the entertainment of the committee on rivers and harbors early in May.
